

ABSTRACT

This invention provides an apparatus for cooling and cleaning emission gas which does not affect working environment even indoor in processing of emission gas including hot gas (hot wind) and volatile gas generated by heating of flux and can operate stably in a long period without replenishment of cooling water when this apparatus for cooling/cleaning the emission gas is installed in a reflow furnace.